

Electrical Apprentice

About us

Located in the growth corridor in the South Eastern suburbs we support our clients state-wide. KTR is a high level security integrator that specialise in security and healthcare. We value excellent working conditions, an inclusive team-based culture and a 'hands on approach'

What we are looking for

We are seeking an apprentice to join our team. This apprenticeship will be an electrical apprenticeship although most of the works will be within the Security Industry.

Why do we do this? We want to offer our staff a licenced trade rather than a certification. This gives better prospects for your future.

- Must have a National Police Check
- Will be required to attain an Individual Security Registration
- Prefer drivers licence (manual preferred but not essential)
- Will need to complete and pass a Medical Examination (paid by company)
- Good communication skills
- Meet company culture

Your role at KTR

This position will require delivering a high standard of customer service and security support whilst operating within a dynamic work environment.

Workplace training will be provided as well as continual training and future development for any employee who wishes to increase their knowledge with the systems used.

Remuneration

As per the relevant award.

Social Procurement

At KTR we welcome and encourage applications from diverse community groups and ages including Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander, LGBTIQ, people with disabilities, women, and other diversity groups. Our company foundations are underpinned by our long heritage of inclusive business culture.

Come join our team....

If you believe you meet our criteria please contact us with your application, we look forward to hearing from you. on' management approach to ensure that our employees are both highly trained and looked after.

Contact hr@ktr.com.au with your resume with an opening statement on 2 of your positive attributes.